DENUNCIATION BY FRENCH DOES NOT SURPRISE ENVOYS

American Delegates Are Undisturbed By French Editors

PARIS PAPER SAYS U. S. RESORTS TO BLACKMAIL

Threat of Wilson's Departure Calls Forth Harsh Comment.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
Paris, April 9.—The harsh denunciation of the American peace delegation by the French press and charges that the ordering of the transport George Washington to come to Brest before its regular time is nothing short of blackmail have not affected the American delegates who apparently are not surprised at the newspaper criticism.

While the Americans repeatedly reaffirm their belief that considerable progress has been made in the last three days, one member remarked today:

"It is not a bad idea to have the ship at Brest ready for the return."

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Paris, April 9.—The Paris paper does not accuse our allies of forgetting what France has done, "but nevertheless we witnessed a foolish thing yesterday." American propagandists or newspapermen, knowing that President Wilson had summoned to Brest the ship which is to take him back to America, saw in this natural order an opportunity for blackmail.

They made—with the disapproval of all Americans who are friends of France—a bold faced attempt at intimidation. "If you are not more accommodating" they went all over the city saying, "our president will return home and you can extricate yourself from your difficulties by yourself."

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Paris, April 9.—The preliminary peace treaty will require Germany to make an immediate indemnity payment on account of 25,000,000,000 francs in cash and raw materials, according to the Echo de Paris. The treaty, it declares, will not leave uncertain the total amount which Germany is to pay, as that amount will be written into the document.

URGE COAL PURCHASE AT HIGHER PRICES

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

Chicago, April 9.—Retail prices for anthracite coal in Chicago are from $1.50 to $1.95 a ton higher than a year ago, while bituminous coal is selling over $2 to $2.40 a ton higher than last April. Despite the prevailing high prices consumers are being urged through an advertising campaign of coal dealers to buy their next winters supply of fuel now in order to save money. Beginning May 1, ten cents a ton will be added to price of anthracite coal each month up to September 1, which will mean a further increase of 50 cents a ton before next fall.

Dealers explain that the high prices are due to increase in labor, freight, carriage and other items included in the cost of production and handling. They declare that prices cannot be lowered until these costs are reduced and there are no prospects that they would be lowered in the near future.

Twenty-Nine Local Members Visit Delaware Tuesday For Inter-City EventASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM

The independent socialists of Munich and Nuremberg are split hopelessly. In the latter city they are absolutely opposed to the Soviet system for the present. The former city siding with the proponents of that system, but laying down 12 conditions, including a dictatorship of the proletariat, the building up of workers' councils, the socialization of the bureaucracy according to the principles of the workmen, peasants, and soldiers councils, the introduction of general labor duty for the Bourgeoisie, the reconstruction of courts on a revolutionary basis, the reconstruction of the dwelling system, the separation of church and state, the immediate revolutionizing of the system of school education, the socialization of the press and the creation of a red army alliance with Russia and Hungary. They also demand proportionate representation of the three parties in the central council.

The council has accepted these conditions so the independent socialists are supporting the Soviet plan but their leader, Dr. Lewin, is still pessimistic and believes that the present council fails to represent the proletariat and that the basic idea of the council has been strangled. The majority socialists in south Bavaria have gone utterly to pieces and are wholly at odds with those in north Bavaria. The Bourgeoisie of both north and south Bavaria are working with renewed vigor to prevent the establishment of the present council.

DIAZ TO START DRIVE AGAINST CARRANZA AND ASK RECOGNITION BY UNITED STATES

General Aurelio Blanquet, minister of war under Huerta, has gone to Mexico from the U. S. to aid General Felix Diaz start an active campaign against Carranza. This is the statement of Roberto Gayon, secretary to Blanquet. Diaz plans to ask the U. S. to recognize them and thus enable Diaz to get arms and ammunition.

I can safely say that American nurses were treated with the utmost respect by all soldiers, including Germans," she said. "Those who were not treated with respect have themselves to blame as much as anyone else. In one ward I nursed 45 Germans. I could not have been treated better by anyone. Two of the dead German soldiers on the battle field were afraid to eat because they were afraid to eat fearing they would poison them. They also were afraid to sleep, having been told I would cut their throats if they did."

Nurses at the front said she served from 21 to 23 hours a day, most of the time. They advanced with the troops and often wore khaki shirts and trousers, rubber boots and helmets, the same as the men when obliged to be in bad weather.

Among souvenirs brought back by Miss Shea is a string of 18 German ears found on the body of one of the Moroccan soldiers. A Masonic penny which she found on No Man's Land bearing the initials D. H. C. Some set Ohio and an Italian medal 25 years old, given her by a boy because she managed to get him some spaghetti.

Miss Shea wears three service stripes a wound stripe and a gold star for transport duty following a year's service overseas.

Bells Famed in History.

DETROIT, April 9.—In the church of St. Nicholas at Vellia in Aragon only rings at times of public calamity. The bells of China, which are usually of great size, are hung in towers and are used for denoting the five watches of the night. The "Jacqueline" of Notre Dame, Paris, one of the sweetest-toned bells in the world, is used only on great holidays on account of its age, having been cast in 1400. In Venice the semi-triumphal arch leading from the square of St. Marks to the Rialto is crowned by a bell with a bronze Vulcan standing on each side of it. These statues strike the bell hour by hour with ponderous maces.

Freak Ship Proved Failure.

DETROIT, April 9.—The Russians built some very extraordinary ships in the '80s, but the most remarkable of all these fronts was the royal yacht Liradia, built in Glasgow, for the Tsar Alexander II in 1880. The ship's hull was built of iron, shaped like a tub" and upon this rested the upper part of the craft, which was like a normal steamer. The flat-bottom had an area of more than one-third of an acre. The ship was, therefore, almost as broad as she was long, and displaced 7,700 tons of water. She was fitted up as a palace, but failed to complete her journey to Russia.

May Remove Spots.

DETROIT, April 9.—One of our readers writes that she has moved into a new apartment that is in perfect condition except for several grease spots that are very prominent upon the dining room wallpaper.

She asks how they may be removed. Certainly calls a little patience to her, but she should be able to remove these spots from wall paper without much trouble. Let her rub upon the spot some powdered chalk, allow it to stand for about half an hour and then rub it again with a soft brush or cloth. The disfiguring spots should easily disappear after several treatments of this sort.

Even if you have passed the days of early youth it is not too late for you to begin to save money for a home of your own. In fact, your advancing years should serve as additional incentive for you to become the possessor of your own right of the roof that covers your head. And, as you grow older with possibly a diminishing income, you will find ever more and more comfort in the knowledge that the dollars you are laying by are to provide a real home for you—a blessed spot that is to be yours completely, and which during all the years of your life, will afford you a place of refuge, comfort and security.

It should be the ambition of every family to own a home, for such an objective will prove a most worthy inspiration to practices of thrift.

A large percentage of those who have learned the value of thrift can trace the beginning of their success to the home-owning impulse. It is easier for us to save money for a definite purpose than to save merely for the purpose of accumulation, and what object could be more worthy of our prudential efforts than the possession of one's own home?

Not only may we look upon this use of thrift from a practical standpoint, realizing that, if we buy a home, we shall be making a very wise investment of our savings, but it is a spirit of enjoyment which is the true possession of a home.

Indeed, there are many of the inspirations that ever will enter one's life. It occupies a large portion of the time of the average man to earn a living, and the time he has left over is spent in the pursuit of his hobbies, interests and avocations.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to style.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and souring creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of bisulfated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body. Sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and arrest its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulfated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ALHAMBRA.

"Laughing Bill Hyde." A thrilling story of man's redemption is unfolded in "Laughing Bill Hyde," greatest of all the Beau Goldwyn productions, which comes to the Alhambra theatre beginning Friday. Will Rogers, farce-thrower wit of "Follies" fame makes his first appearance on the screen in the name role. Misfortune hounds Bill Hyde and Danny Duncan after they succeed in escaping from prison when Dan falls down a gulch and is mortally hurt. Bill carries him pal to a doctor's home, where Dan's last hours are made as comfortable as possible. Bill later makes his way to Alaska, where he meets the doctor, who acquires a claim for treating a dying man. Bill, while searching for work, rushes to the aid of a girl, whom a drunken rowdy is attacking and beats him off. She is Ponotah, a half-breed, and she owns half of a mine, though the man in charge, Joseph Slayforth, is trying to rob her of her share. Bill gets a job in that mine and is instrumental in getting Ponotah her full share by methods not altogether scrupulous.

"Smiles."

The Alhambra theatre will have as its feature today and tomorrow a photoplay called "Smiles," in which Jane and Katherine Lee, the imitables, keep everybody in hot water and at the same time have the knack of working toward a happy ending. "Smiles" was directed by Arvid E. Gillstrom, who also had charge of the Lees in "Swat the Spy" and "Tell It to the Marines." This latest play has a touch of war in it, but it shows the humorous side of the great struggle. It has in it airplanes, U-boats, a new radio-mine invention; besides showing the methods of some of the German spies in this country.

SMILES.

"The Girl With No Regrets."

The underworld runs riot in the new Peggy Hyland photoplay, "The Girl With No Regrets," which will be shown at the Gem theatre today. In her innocence Miss Hyland as Signor Merrick, gets into a nest of crooks, and her battle in getting out of it and keeping out makes the theme of a very interesting and at times thrilling picture.

An attempted theft of a fortune in jewels is a feature of the new play.

In "Selfish Yates," a new photoplay featuring William S. Hart, the Thos. H. One day a young woman of the loftiest character enters into the sphere of his existence and by her purity and softness effects a spiritual regeneration in this ruffianly character.

There are numerous and captivating scenes which throw a historical light upon the early mining days in Arizona and in which Mr. Hart moves with compelling and artistic effect. Several other experiments pertaining to permanent pastures and forage crops were reported incomplete.

Can you come to our store, seat yourself comfortably and forget that you are in a phonograph store? If you are able to do this, we shall give you a very wonderful experience. We shall ask you to take a chair about twenty feet from the New Edison. We shall show you a picture of a great singer—for example, Frieda Hempel, of the Metropolitan Opera. We shall ask you to recall the last time you heard a great soprano. Perhaps we shall ask you to close your eyes, or turn your back upon the instrument. Then we shall play—no, that is not the word—then Frieda Hempel will sing for you. Every quality of her glorious voice that has contributed to her world-wide success will be present in the New Edison's Re-Creation.

With your eyes closed or your back turned and with your mind open to the inspiration of the music, you will forget that you are listening to an inanimate object. You will almost feel Frieda Hempel's presence in the room.

We want you to make this test. It will give you all of the rare sensations that a music lover gets at the opera or concert. It will probably determine you to become the owner of a New Edison, but you will not be urged to buy. Come to our store and say, "I want to test the New Edison."

HOW GOOD WAS THE ARMY.

Returning soldiers are giving quite different opinions in regard to the level of military efficiency which the United States army attained in the recent fighting. The popular impression is that it was the best army over there. The feeling of a lot of people is that the American army was pretty nearly the whole show, until they are reminded that the French and English each lost about 1,000,000 men, compared to one tenth that number from the American forces.

Other soldiers take the position that while the United States army was on the way to make a very wonderful force, its inexperience was so great that it lost far too many men for the operations conducted.

It is the opinion of some whose judgment is entitled to respect, that at the time of the armistice the American army has not reached the military efficiency of any forces. As it had been in the line so short a time, it would be almost incredible if it did equal these seasoned veterans who had seen years of fighting.

To this the other point of view replies that at any rate the American boys went in and took their objectives. The heavy losses may be defended on the ground that a quick offensive campaign of this kind is often less costly in the end than a more cautious strategy.

The American people have the bravest and most resourceful soldiers in the world. But they can't expect to go into a war without preparation and lick all comers. What is needed is not a big standing army, but a large standing force of thoroughly competent and highly trained officers. With such force to serve as a skeleton for a bigger organization, a great army could be trained in the minimum of time.

Now that the government has called for 50,000 volunteers to go across, some of these fellows who were so bitterly disappointed that they could not go, have found that urgent duty compels them to stay at home.

People who are looking for helpers who won't recklessly work themselves out of a job, might try the officials that have been reporting the army casualties.

The fishing season will be highly successful until July 1 anyway.

VINDICTED BY HISTORY.

The more far sighted a statesman is, the longer it sometimes takes to prove that his vision was correct. This has been true in regard to several of the disputed policies of President Wilson. Five years ago, for instance, nearly everyone was finding fault with his Mexican policy.

Still through it all, Mr. Wilson had many friends who believed that that policy was founded on certain principles of justice and would in the end work out.

Recent reports from Mexico have been of a very encouraging nature. Emiliano Zapata, the bandit who for many years has controlled great districts of territory near the capital of Mexico, has at last been driven into the mountains. The provinces formerly under his sway are assuming the conditions of settled civilization.

All over Mexico schools are being started. The great estates of land, which held down the people to slavery, are being divided up with the cooperation of the new proprietors. Field workers have a chance to own a small farm by sharing in the crops raised by the land. Once a great body of tormented restless spirits become owners of land, Mexico will settle down to peace and order the way the great republics of South America have done.

Mr. Wilson extended friendly treatment to the revolutionary government of Mexico, because it gave hope of placing the country on a more sound and democratic basis. There is evidence that it is making good. The work is long, and there will be many set backs among so ignorant a people. But a government was established that is taking steps to remove the great evils that kept Mexico in turmoil for many years. The results suggest that truth and justice have a way of making good.

LINGERING IN THE CITIES.

Chambers of Commerce have been urged to suggest to discharged soldiers who are lingering in the large cities, that they would do well to return to their homes.

Many of the soldiers say they don't propose to go to work for anywhere from 30 days to a year. After living in trenches with water six inches deep, and going over the top occasionally for variety, they naturally look for a period of simple life.

The soldiers may very naturally like a period of relief from war discipline and from the strain of fighting. But the best place to get that relief is right in their home towns. There are too many people in the big cities who would like to take advantage of them. Their home towns are waiting to give them the biggest kind of welcome, also to do everything possible to give them a start in some good kind of work.

The folks who throw waste paper on the streets probably don't feel at home unless the town looks as dirty as their dwellings.

USELESS VICTORIES.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer) The tremendous wet majority rolled up at the Chicago election can be interpreted only as an academic protest against prohibition. It can have no practical effect. War time prohibition becomes effective throughout the nation on July 1, and constitutional prohibition will doubtless be in force before the congressional bar is lifted. Chicago's vote, which showed four out of every five male voters opposed to prohibition and 14 per cent more women voting wet than voting dry, is merely an expression of Chicago's disapproval.

Recent results in town elections in some of the New England states are less easily explained. Communities long dry under local option have suddenly voted wet. It is not surprising that a wet center such as Chicago should express its resentment, but why should supposed dry communities suddenly shift and give their adherence to the lost cause?

It is stated that the mayor of Baltimore lost his fight for renomination in the Democratic primaries this week because two of his chief supporters advertised themselves as drys. This may be merely political surprise, but it is enough to give wet leaders some satisfaction.

It is curious that months after wet issue has been decided so many thousands of voters go to the trouble of recording their protest at the polls. Chicago drys say they made no effort to prevent wet landslide at the recent election. Something of the same indifference may have existed in the New England towns. Each one is entitled to its own explanation. In years to come it may be interesting to remember how much the interest of the nation's second city was put before it by some drys.

Spirit of the Press

Asks in the Great War. It seems that time and place we have got to think of Asia as a substantial part of the Union which constitutes that remote territory as being of a factor in our conduct of the war. But it appears that "good and true" inserted the call to arms, and when the end of the war came, and when the war was over, that this was no mean contribution that this was no mean contribution of these men will return to that land, and if it is asserted that it is practically all of them will find their old places waiting for them. Explicitly, the American spirit thrives well up there.—Rochester Democrat and Chron.

Black and Green. An old colored man was lying dead grass when a "white girl" stopped and said: "You're foolish to do that Uncle Eli, it will make the meadow as black as you are." "I don't want that, dad, said, responded Uncle Eli. "That grass will grow out to be as green as you are."—Boston Transcript.

THE ADVOCATE'S
WITTING POP

Astonishing things can be done with the human memory if you will devote it faithfully to one particular line of business.—Mark Twain.

Endowment Not Heavy. The sun's shining brightly, the bird on the bough sings gayly. "Consider, consider right now—

Your garden," so I shall now ponder its needs. And hastily buy fertilizer and seeds. I shall dig, rake and weed if it shines or it rains. And harvest a radish, perhaps, for my pains.

Not Interested in the Other One. Aunt Caline says—A agent let false bags come here a few days ago. His first thing he did was to start out a-hunting up Part Wood to try to sell him a knew bag. He finely found the street but he didn't no which house he lived at, so he met up with Doc Carven an' says he, "Excuse me," he says, "I'm trying to find a man with one bag up this street," says he. Doc looked at him a minute, says he, "I'm a thoughtful an' says he, "Where is the other bag at?" he says.

Vernalities. Lovely spring has come again. With its gently blowing zephyrs; Lowing kine are in the field—Some are cows and some are heifers.—Toledo Blade.

Gentle spring has come, but all Haven't got your luck, one fears; Of the kine within our field, Some are bullocks, some are steers.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Spring has come and hens we'll set. Be of chicken raising boosters. When they hatch then some, we bet, May be hens but more'll be roosters.

Wouldn't Work. Just look thru glass and you can see. I've heard it said, but my, oh my, Altho' I've looked and looked, by gee, I cannot see thru my glass eye.—I. G.

Delicious Substitutes Plentiful. Undeniably there are some signs of reaction in popular sentiment and even a prominent dry voter like us has his weary moments when he feels that one of the most important problems in the new order of things. In addition to finding one for the saloon, will be to find an attractive substitute for the prohibition orator.—Ohio State Journal.

While undoubtedly an important somewhat general statement would probably meet with general approval, in doing justice as to how the transition should take place, some difficult problems are encountered. For example, Mr. Hurley says: "The ships should be sold at a price which fairly reflects the current world market for similar tonnage." This on the surface seems reasonable and just. But there is the fact that the current market for tonnage is extremely high, and private owners would probably have much difficulty in competing with the world's tonnage built before the war. This is influence similar to that which resulted in the renewal of general bidding activity. To act a purveyor for the government-owned vessels at the present high prices is the task confronting the authorities. The fact of main interest, however, is that the government is presumably opposed to government ownership, and desires that the merchant marine shall be owned and operated by private individuals.

To make the proposition inviting, Mr. Hurley proposes that, is desired payment of only 25 per cent shall be made on the purchase, the balance to be carried over a period of ten years at 5 per cent interest. This is considered reasonable enough for shipping ventures.

In fact, it is altogether likely that the government would not stand in the way of any reasonable terms that might be offered in order to encourage the transition of the vessels to private ownership, and to encourage their operation in competition with other fleets of the world. It is the government's intention to see that a great fleet shall be built up to care for the growing international trade of the United States. Mr. Hurley says: "The government now owns 555 ships, ranging from cargo ships, averaging 2,250,475 deadweight tons, and in addition has under contract 1,256 similar vessels of 9,275,000 deadweight tons. It is hoped that next year 16,732,700 deadweight tons of ocean-going steel cargo and passenger ships will be under United States registry, equivalent to almost half of the merchant tonnage which plies the seas today. About 78 per cent of this American tonnage will be owned and operated by private individuals.

To make the proposition inviting, Mr. Hurley proposes that, is desired payment of only 25 per cent shall be made on the purchase, the balance to be carried over a period of ten years at 5 per cent interest.

Blind Men and Smoking.

That blind men do not enjoy smoking is a belief as widespread as it is false. The reason is not far to seek.

Try to smoke your pipe in a dark room, avoid using the glow of the bowl as a guide, and you will find it difficult to tell after a few minutes whether your pipe is out or burning furiously. The burning weed seems to have lost both taste and aroma.

In the case of the blind there is probably a more acute appreciation of the fumes than the ordinary man enjoys. At the same time, the eye being quicker than the palate in perceiving whether the pipe is lit or unlit, a blind man may for a short time puff contentedly at a pipe which has gone out. It may be to avoid this that blind men smoke faster than those who have their sight.

Every Day Etiquette.

It is an excellent way always to give a baby its water from a teaspoon rather than from a bottle, because in this way even a tiny baby will learn to drink from a spoon and this is invaluable knowledge when it is necessary to give it medicine.

When a child is sick the kidneys are only too prone to be affected and it is essential to provide plenty of water, especially in cases like scarlet fever, where kidney complications are more usual than not. Even a small baby should be given a little water each day although care must be taken that it is not too cold.

A child with a tendency to constipation or any stomach trouble should be encouraged to drink plenty of water. If it rebels against a glass full, give half or even a quarter of a glass at a time and make a game of it, or give it a small piece of ice as a reward.

It is just as important to provide good and pure drinking water as it is pure and wholesome food and for the first few days at a new place one should make the children drink rather sparingly until the properties of the water have become familiar.

Cleopatra's Needle.

The two obelisks known as Cleopatra's needles, were set up at the entrance of the Temple of the Sun in Heliopolis, in Egypt, by Thothmes III, about 1350 B. C. They were cut from granite brought from the Nile. Two centuries after their erection Thothmes III had the stones covered with carvings setting forth his own greatness. Twenty years before, Thothmes III had the stones covered with carvings setting forth his own greatness.

More than 100 American clowns representing every State in the Union have been enlisted by the War Veterans Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to go to France as Y. W. M. C. A. workers assigned to the Y. W. M. C. A. base regiments.

Mrs. Nona Lester Durkee, organizer of the Durkee War Relief in France, will be actively interested on her return to this country in the new shop opened in New York for the purpose of raising funds for this relief work.

Ancients Work in Copper.

One of the most interesting discoveries by Egyptologists throws new light on the relative origin of copper and bronze in the Mediterranean countries. At Orta Commidre, alongside some ancient copper mines of prehistoric age, a foundry has been uncovered with all the furnaces for smelting and molds for casting just as it was abandoned thousands of years ago in the transition periods between the ages of stone and bronze. The methods then obtaining in the foundry industry as here demonstrated were most ingenious.

Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Key West, Fla.—For five years I suffered from irregularities, with terrible pains and an awful weakness in my back. The doctor gave me different medicines but they did me no good. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it to be the best medicine I ever tried because it made me well, and I can now do my housework. I am telling my friends about it.—Mrs. J. M. CAMUS, 726 Caroline St., Key West, Florida.

Many women at some period in their life suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex and which in most cases may be readily relieved by this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, just as Mrs. Camus found it helped her after suffering for years and trying everything else in vain.

If you have any annoying symptoms you fail to understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The results of their 40 years experience in advising women on this subject is at your service.
